

What is Day to Serve?

Day to Serve is an annual initiative that transcends political and religious differences. It unites people of all faiths, races, cultures, and background with the shared goal of helping those in need and improving the communities where we live. Together, we can build friendships, serve others and improve the communities. “Just choose one or more days to serve from September 11–October 10—commemorating the tragic events of 9/11/2001.. Benefits of Service

Service breaks down barriers, builds friendships, and unites people.

Communities that forge strong partnerships have increased resilience after disasters.

The President calls on all Americans to make volunteerism and community service a part of their daily lives.

Service is contagious and sparks a continuous chain of sharing goodness which makes the world a more compassionate place.

Service is a key unifying factor in developing interfaith relationships.

Service produces not only social benefits but health benefits.

Communities and individuals focused on service are happier and more unified.

A True Interfaith and Community Partnership

Day to Serve is organized, led, and supported by a unified group of bipartisan governors, mayors, and legislators along with a unique consortium of faith and community leaders.

These leaders represent a rich and diverse population of citizens who serve, not for political or public accolades, but for the simple reason that service brings people together. It unites and strengthens communities and individual lives.

We encourage everyone to join us by selecting one or more days to serve from September 11 – Serve Accomplishments.

“The life of a man consists not in seeing visions and in dreaming dreams, but in active charity and in willing service.”

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

How to Get Involved

Plan and Organize: Establish a Day to Serve planning committee and invite members of other faiths, communities, business community leaders, non-profits, and neighbors to help you identify community needs. Jointly develop a plan to meet that need. Set goals together. Go to daytoserve.org for help.

Promote: Get the word out! Use social media and other tools to share your plans and get people involved, especially youth and those new to community service. Be sure to post your events on our website, daytoserve.org.

Participation Goals: Keep track of service hours, number of participants, youth, groups that join you, food collected, trash collected, trees planted, stories at daytoserve.org. These measurements ignite progress and strengthen the spirit of service.

Goals

Our goal is simple: more volunteers, more service, and more good. We want to leverage the shared value of service to transform and bond communities together—one service act or event at a time; culminating in a stronger, more united culture centered on the values of respect, understanding, and friendship.
